Recreational Plans For Lake Barkley OK'ed

Plans for the development of the full recreational potential of Lake Barkley soon to be formed on the lower Cumberland River have been approved by the Chief of Engineers, Colonel James B. Newman, District Engineer of the Nashville District, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army announced today.

Barkley Dam is now under construction near Grand Rivers, Kentucky. The lake is to be partially impounded in the fall of 1964 and fully filled one year later. It will extend 118 miles up the Cumberland River to Chestnut Dam, and will be connected to the Tennessee River through a free-flowing canal. The reservoir will cover some 62,000 acres at normal pool and will parallel the Between-The-Rivers National Recreation Area now under development by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The planning for the development of Government-owned land at this project for recreational and commercial boat dock facilities has involved the full consideration and views of development proposals of Federal, State and local agencies, as well as organized groups and individuals, Newman said.

In keeping with the National Policy, the Corps of Engineers will establish public use areas at strategic locations around Lake Barkley to provide the public with the opportunity for full use of the recreational resources of the lake. The District Engineer stated that development at these sites will range from boat launching facilities only to a more complete development involving facilities for picnicking, camping, boating, and swimming. Commercial boat dock facilities sufficient to meet the needs of the public will be established at selected public use areas on Government lands.

According to the District Engineer, the sites selected by the Government for commercial facilities will be offered for lease on a competitive basis to private individuals, firms and corporations for development and operation. These leases will be for a term of 25 years and in some instances, the leases may contain an option of renewal for an additional term of 25 years. As a matter of information, it is expected that some of the commercial facilities to be provided by the

New Year's Celebrations Have One Thing In Common, Noise

Americans collected hats and horns today for that most riotous of holidays—the welcoming of the New Year, arriving at midnight. The millions of celebrations will have one thing in common—noise.

Many Americans will greet the New Year in ballrooms, restaurants and night clubs. Many others will await the event at private parties. Some will attend special church services. A few will spend the evening quietly at home, perhaps sharing vicariously in the frivolity by means of radio or television.

New York's largest celebration—and perhaps the largest in the nation—will be in the giant Grand Central railroad terminal, where 3,000 guests were expected to pay from $55 to $100 to dine and dance to the music of Guy Lombardo in a mental health benefit. Private railroad cars will shuttle the socialite guests from the suburbs to the affair, which will be televised.

Home Of S. V. Foy Burns This Morning

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Foy was gutted by fire this morning, in spite of efforts by firemen to save it.

Although still standing the home was consumed on the interior with part of the roof caving in.

Many items of furniture were saved by neighbors, although all bedding was consumed in the blaze.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Foy had left the residence only minutes before the blaze was discovered. Mr. Foy said that he had been at his office only about five minutes when he received a call that his home was on fire.

Mrs. Vernon Shown saw the blaze and turned in the alarm.

Mr. and Mrs. Foy had lived in the frame home for about twenty years. The house was forty-five years old.

The home had been remodeled with a wide carport and garage added on the east side. The carport and garage were not damaged in the fire.

Fire Chief Flavil Robertson said that two trucks answered the call as soon as it was turned in and when they arrived the entire attic was ablaze.

As soon as the fire was discovered a number of neighbors went to the house and began taking out all movable items. A large amount of furniture and other items was saved, but much was lost in the blaze also.

Kenlake Hotel To Be Closed Until Spring

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP)—Resort facilities at five state parks will be closed from this Thursday until early spring and facilities at two other parks will be put on a limited basis in an effort to "operate Kentucky's parks on a businesslike, responsible basis."

Parks Commissioner Robert Bell, in announcing the action today, said he did not find it easy to make the decision.

"Some 400 employees will lose their source of income during this winter season. Many local communities near the vacation parks will be sorely disappointed," Bell said.

"However, these actions will result in a savings to the commonwealth and its taxpayers of $600,000 during this current fiscal year," he pointed out.

"All the facilities will be reactivated just as soon as the spring season permits, and employees released as a result of this order will be given first priority when the department begins hiring for the

Roger Babson's Business and Financial Forecast For Year 1964

By ROGER BABSON

I am still emotionally upset as I make this forecast after the brutal assassination of President Kennedy. I, however, will try to submerge my emotions and base this forecast of 1964 on the facts as I interpret them.

1. OUR NEW PRESIDENT. I state emphatically that President Johnson may accomplish far more constructively before November 1964 than our late President who have been able to do. President Johnson understands better how to handle Congress, and has the confidence of businessmen. Therefore, I am reassured as to the first ten months of 1964.

2. ELECTION IN NOVEMBER. At the Republican Convention in the summer of 1964, there will be a conflict between Goldwater and Rockefeller, and perhaps others. For this reason, Mr. Nixon may slip in and get the Republican nomination. Certainly President Johnson will secure the nomination of the Democratic Party; he is a farsighted man, and knows politics. Therefore, with the Republicans nominating any one of the three leading names mentioned above, I now forecast that President Johnson will be elected President of the United States in November 1964. All of this gives me more assurance that 1964 should be a good year.

3. TAX CUT. A tax cut will be enacted sometime during the coming session of Congress; and it will surely be made retroactive to January 1, 1964. The tax cut should help consumer buying; it may even increase general business.

4. CIVIL RIGHTS. Some sort of a civil-rights bill will be passed by Congress during 1964. The Administration wants to please the South and hold its Democratic votes there, but the civil-rights bill now before Congress is not satisfactory to the white people of the North. Therefore, I forecast that whatever civil-rights bill is passed before the election of 1964 will be considerably watered down.

5. NEGRO PEOPLE. The Negroes will continue to make progress and get more. But I predict that the gains will have to come largely through changing attitudes of the people. Otherwise, the situation will be much like the prohibition problem which the good people of the nation thought could be solved by legislation. Such reforms take place only as the minds of the hearts of the people are changed for the better.

6. GOVERNMENT SPENDING. Of course, in the long run, the survival of a nation should depend upon its spending less than it takes in. Nowadays, however, it is unfashionable—for consumers or government—to have balanced budgets. Therefore, I predict that 1964 will see a bigger deficit than this year's.

7. DEPRESSION. Whether for better or for worse, the voters have been taught to believe that can and should get something for nothing, and only a severe depression could ultimately change this belief. I, however, look for no depression in 1964.

8. AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK. Although crops, prices, and farm income may be basically dependent on the weather, much of the world is short of food. Russia's and China's heavy purchases of grains will do more to bolster U. S. farm income than will government-supported prices in 1964.

9. DOW-JONES INDUSTRIALS. I forecast that the stock market as measured by the Dow-Jones Average will make a new high in 1964, but may sell lower after the elections. However, readers must remember that the Dow-Jones Industrial list, which everyone seems to think represents the market, may be very deceptive.

10. SPECULATIVE STOCKS. Of the approximately 1500 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, a majority have been going down while the Dow-Jones list of 30 which everyone watches have been going up. This is due to the purchase of Dow-Jones issues today largely by trustees, pension funds, mutual companies, and others that prefer fairly conservative and dividend-paying companies. I forecast that stocks not in the Dow-Jones list will do better or for worse, the voters have been taught to believe that can and should get something for nothing, and only a severe depression could ultimately change this belief. I, however, look for no depression in 1964.

11. SWITCHING. Based on my above forecast, and having learned that only buying can send stocks up, I predict that 1964 may prove to be a good year to switch from some of the overcrowded Dow-Jones stocks into other issues that are now overlooked.

12. GOVERNMENT BONDS. The only government bonds that interest me are the long-term ones which may now be purchased at a discount to be used in payment for death taxes. I forecast that more governments will be issued during 1964 and that their prices may gradually sag as money becomes tighter.

13. CORPORATION BONDS. Those buying corporate bonds should either stick to issues of under five years' maturity or keep their money in the savings bank. I predict that long-term corporate bonds will drop in price in 1964 as interest rates rise.

14. TAX-EXEMPT BONDS. Likewise, I predict that long-term tax-exempt bonds will decline next year. They are even more overpriced than corporate bonds, because of heavy bank buying during the past two years. I do not look for this to be repeated in 1964. Therefore, I would certainly confine buying of tax-exempts to short maturities; and I would avoid revenue bonds.

15. INTEREST RATES. I forecast that interest rates will continue at least as high as today, and will possibly rise through 1964 in order to keep gold here in this country and uphold the value of the dollar.

16. DEVALUATION OF GOLD. I forecast that there will be no devaluation of gold during 1964. I am personally acquainted with conditions in Africa, and will say that those who wish to speculate in gold mines should consider American—South African Investment Co. Ltd. Readers should remember, however, that gold-mining stocks will go down as well as up, in accordance with many different conditions.

17. PROFITS. I forecast that corporate profits will continue to rise in 1964, though possibly at a somewhat slower pace than recently.

18. COPPER PRICES. Commodity prices are dependent on two factors: Demand and supply. Take copper: I believe demand will continue to increase during the electrical era we are now in. And, since my visit to Africa, I feel the supply of copper is almost unlimited. Hence I forecast little change in price on balance in 1964.

19. OTHER BASIC RAW MATERIALS. With some few exceptions, the above applies generally to many of the basic raw materials, including iron and steel, and especially aluminum. The present firming in quotations will not carry much further and could be subject to setbacks later in the year.

20. SUGAR. Sugar prices, however, will hold in a generally high range all through 1964.

21. BUILDING—SUBURBIA. I forecast that new building will continue around present levels through 1964, with additional growth in "suburbia." This applies to single homes and to apartment houses, which could easily be overbuilt as the hotels and motels have been.

22. PUBLIC CONSTRUCTION. Otherwise, strength in building will occur mainly in the public sector—especially roadbuilding.

23. REAL ESTATE. I predict that farms on the "right side" of cities will constantly increase in value during 1964. I say "right side" because every city seems to have some one best direction in which to grow. This usually is toward the higher land often to the west; but this is something subdivision developers must watch very closely.

24. RURAL AREAS. As I have said before, the way to buy real estate profitably is to drive out the main road away from the city in which you live, on the "right" side. Every few miles, stop and inquire the price of land; so long as it is quoted by the foot, get back in your car and drive until it is quoted by the acre. Everything else being equal, I forecast that the purchase of this land in 1964 will show you a profit over the long term.

25. FLORIDA PROPERTY. There is still a lot of land in Florida, and there are many retired people who are hoping to move there. I forecast that your best Florida buy in 1964 will be waterfront property. God made only so much waterfront land; but there is an enormous amount of interior land which for many years will be good only for pasture. Do not buy land—anywhere—until you see it; don't depend on blueprints, catalogs, and super sales organizations.

26. FLORIDA HOME. I believe a small home in a small Florida city, and ownership of the vacant lot on each side thereof, will prove a safe and attractive investment in 1964 for anyone who has a check coming in regularly from the North.

27. ADVERTISING. While TV advertising will continue strong for patent medicines and some other products, I forecast that homes newspaper advertising will hold its own. Newspaper ads can be cut out and kept for reference, which is impossible with radio or TV ads.

28. NEWSPAPERS. I forecast that competing newspapers will continue to consolidate; and there may possibly be a return to the days when newspapers represented the opinions of some one man with courage, influence, and personality rather than the decisions of a "cold" board of directors. Note that this is something television is already trying to develop in its news reports, and newspapers must watch it.

29. STRIKES. I believe that 1964 will be free from large strikes. The "big show," of course, will be the negotiations between the auto workers and manufacturers. However, I predict that both sides will arrive at a peaceful settlement before the deadline.

30. WAGES. While labor will not get all the pay increases it wants better proportionately in 1964 than they did this year.

11. SWITCHING. Based on my above forecast, and having learned that only buying can send stocks up, I predict that 1964 may prove to be a good year to switch from some of the overcrowded Dow-Jones stocks into other issues that are now overlooked.

Dear Abby . . . HE'S ALWAYS IN THE MARKET!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know plenty of women who have nothing on their minds but money, but my husband is the only man I know who thinks about business and money night and day. He even DREAMS about money. All night long I can hear him buying and selling stocks in his sleep. Is this normal?

ROSE
DEAR ROSE: It's normal. Be glad your husband is preoccupied with "figures" of a business nature. Count your blessings while he's counting his shares. And don't sell him short.

DEAR ABBY: One day last week I went into my garage to do a little work and there I found two neighborhood children playing INSIDE an old refrigerator I had stored there. They were three and four years old. When I think of the tragedy that might have occurred if that refrigerator door had accidentally slammed shut on those little tots, my blood runs cold. I gave them a long lecture on how they had no business in my

LEAVES REPRESENTING BOOKS read by second-graders at Simpsonville Elementary School are fastened on the "Reading Tree" by (from left) Gerald Terrell, 8, and Jerry Lawson, 6, both of Route 2, Shelbyville, and Carol Hall, 7, Route 5, Shelbyville. The school's 22 second-graders have covered the tree with 600 brightly-colored leaves since September. Oral "book reviews" are required by the teacher, Mrs. Phoebe Lawrence, before a child adds a new leaf to the tree.

MRS. C.

DEAR MRS. C.: A picture is the one thing a person can't go out and buy himself. I have yet to see grandparents who didn't appreciate pictures of their grandchildren.

DEAR ABBY: I never knew love songs were out of place at a wedding ceremony. "Oh, Promise Me" and "Because" were sung at our wedding 26 years ago. Had I known what the future held in store for me I would have requested, "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby."

DEAR ABBY: During a disagreement, my husband broke my nose and gave me two black eyes and I couldn't go to a family Christmas get-together because I didn't want my people to see me looking like that. He's really not a bad guy, Abby. He's a steady worker, drinks only on week-ends, and he's good to the kids. But when he loses his temper, I'm the one who gets it in the neck. Don't tell me to leave him because I've tried it and I'm the one who crawls back. I love this guy, but I need a few pointers on how to keep him from slapping me around.

DEAR ABBY: What time do you think an eleven-year old girl should go to bed? This will settle an argument between my mother and me.

THE GIRL
DEAR GIRL: She should go to bed whenever her mother says she should. And THAT should settle the argument.

DEAR ABBY: When a boy asks me to a night movie, my mother gives me money and tells me to buy my own ticket because then I won't feel like I have to kiss him good-night. I really try to pay my own way, but the boy never lets me. I have kissed a few boys goodnight but it wasn't because they paid my way to the movies. Do you think I should put up a harder fight when a boy wants to buy my ticket? And it is okay to kiss him goodnight if I had an especially good time?

do so. Don't confuse a "thank you for a lovely evening" with a kiss. A kiss means "I like you." And "thank you" means I enjoyed myself.

DEAR ABBY: Why are so many people shocked when they put "R.S.V.P." on invitations and two days before the wedding or party or whatever it is they have to start calling up the invited guests to see if they're coming? I'll bet if you stopped 100 people on the street and asked them what "R.S.V.P." meant, they couldn't tell you. It stands for "Respond, if you please," in FRENCH, and how are we supposed to know French? If they had put down, "CALL US UP AND TELL US IF YOU CAN MAKE IT," and then the phone number, it would make a lot more sense.

1964. It will get the equivalent in large benefits".

32. WORK WEEK. I forecast employment will rise further in 1964, due to a prosperous economy with new and expanding operations. Unemployment will rise, too, because the influx of young job seekers and displacement of unskilled workers by automation.

33. WORK WEEK. There will be continuing agitation to cut the 40-hour week in 1964 to a 35-hour week on the same pay. I forecast this will not be accomplished. There may be a compromise to 37½ hours, though this will depend largely upon President Johnson.

34. FOREIGN TRADE. Rising automation in the U. S. in 1964 will enable us to compete for effectively lower per-man-hour labor costs in Europe. Labor costs in Italy are already rising, and inflation is threatening Europe, particularly Italy and France.

35. INFLATION. Like the rest of the world, we will be tempted to sort more and more to inflation; I forecast this will not be a vital factor in 1964.

36. LIVING COSTS. There will be continued upward pressure on living costs during 1964, even though Administration may soft-pedal abnormal rise in the Labor Department's index to prove that costs are being held down.

37. RETAIL SALES. I forecast that 1964 will show an increase in retail sales and in installment purchases.

38. RECREATIONAL EQUIPMENT. I forecast that the great increase in leisure time and the constant gains in personal income will make manufacturers of recreational equipment a prosperous year in 1964.

39. SYNTHETIC FOODS. I forecast that many new synthetic foods cheaper than the natural, and as healthful will appear in supermarkets in 1964.

40. SYNTHETIC CLOTHING. I forecast that this new industry will develop notably in the United States during 1964, particularly as regards specially work clothes.

41. AUTO PARKING. The auto companies are devoting much study to the parking problem. I forecast real progress toward mechanical parking in 1964.

42. SEAT BELTS. I predict that insurance companies will put added pressure during 1964 on all state governments to enact legislation requiring "roll-up" seat belts on all new cars.

43. NEW INVENTIONS. I forecast that rapid strides will be made in 1964 in the direction of transferring mass through matter.

44. ELECTRONIC PRODUCTION. I forecast a great increase in electronic manufacturing in 1964, with emphasis on adaptation of space efforts to military applications.

45. AIR CONDITIONING. I predict radical changes in air conditioning in 1964 via the reduction, and later elimination, of moving parts in the heat-withdrawal machinery.

46. ELECTRIC HEATING. I forecast experiments in electric heating in 1964 whereby radio waves will heat only the individuals in the room, but not the air.

47. OCEANOGRAPHY. I forecast great development in 1964 in mineral recovery, food supplements, new chemical derivatives, etc. obtained through oceanographic research.

48. CUBA. People in Florida have no reason to worry about their nearness to Cuba in 1964. Russia will undoubtedly keep a controlling finger on Cuba until she decides to withdraw in a swap of some kind with the U. S. in connection with Berlin or West Germany.

49. WAR. There will be no World War in 1964, and even the "cold war" pressures should gradually soften and prove less costly. I, however, am watching carefully how President Johnson and Premier Khrushchev get on together.

50. RUSSIA. I predict that the Russian government will vastly increase the manufacture of electrical appliances, and will have a 100-percent installment company which will operate without competition. When I was in Russia it was evident from my talk with the young people that they would have to be given more of the advantages enjoyed by the free nations.

51. IN THIS CONNECTION I should say that, like the U. S., Russia is very rich in natural resources, and in research. This latter is especially important these days. I was much impressed, during my visit, with the Russian educational system which is developing a very able generation of young people. I forecast, however, that Mr. Khrushchev's real problem will be how long he will be able to hold these young people in line!

FARM BUREAU

Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation

The Kentucky Farm Bureau will officially launch its 1964 membership campaign the week of January 20. The week of the 20th is set aside as Farm Bureau "Sign-up" Week in Kentucky.

Before the campaign gets underway, however, district membership Jamborees will be held to plan the week-long activities. Plans will be made during the Jamborees to insure implementation of the program. They are scheduled January 13-17.

The big push will then be left up to members of each membership committee in the counties.

During Farm Bureau "Sign-up" Week, every county Farm Bureau in Kentucky will be asked to "kick-off" a membership drive.

Gov. Edward T. "Ned" Breathitt will be asked to designate the week of the 20th as Farm Bureau Week in Kentucky.

County Judges around the state will probably be asked by county Farm Bureau leaders to issue a proclamation. County "kick-off" breakfasts for membership workers will be held in some counties. Other counties will have dinners throughout the state during the week.

Here is the schedule for the Jamborees:

Districts 1 and 2: Kentucky Dam Village, Gilbertsville, at 9:30 a. m. (EST) January 13.

Districts 3 and 4: Western Hills, Bowling Green, at 9:30 a. m. (EST) January 14.

Districts 5 and 6: Holiday Inn, Frankfort, at 9:30 a. m. (EST) January 17.

Districts 7 and 8: Boone Tavern, Berea, at 9:30 a. m. (EST) January 15.

Districts 9 and 10: Morehead College, Morehead, at 9:30 a. m. (EST) January 16.

Apartments Prove Good Investment

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — "Babies are okay—but when they reach school age you have to move."

That's what William Riley tells young couples who rent the 3½-room apartments in his King Arthur developments at Addison and Northlake in the suburbs of Chicago. It's written into the leases, too. No exceptions that move when the first child is five.

Riley's apartment projects are about as unique as you'll find in real estate development. All are designed for young couples with no children who want children who want swimming, tennis and other country club living attractions right at hand.

"They are economically and socially justified by certain changing basic conditions in our society today," Riley said.

"First the number of people in their twenties in our population will increase by 9 per cent in the next two years—a much faster rise than in recent years."

Don't Have Payment
"Second, today's young couples often don't have the down payment for a house or a cooperative apartment. The husband is not a veteran or, if he is, the long G. I. mortgage doesn't look very attractive to him."

"The, the very young couple probably can't find a house that will give them near as much for $139 a month as our apartments do."

Finally—and this is the reason Riley's tenants are quite willing to say goodbye amicably when the child reaches school age— "we don't build near schools."

"That," Riley explained, "makes us welcome in many suburban areas that won't grant permits for standard apartment houses for families with school-age children. These communities say their schools are bursting at the seams."

Unusual Investment
From the standpoint of the investor, Riley's King Arthur projects are unusual, too. He builds them in 14-family units costing an average of $161,000. Of this, an "armchair investor" puts up $28,000, the rest being covered by conventional mortgage and building financing.

"Gross income," Riley says, "comes to around $23,502 a year for the 14 apartments and the cash flow profit is about $3,400 or 12 per cent on the $28,000. Riley management gets $900 a year before this profit."

In addition, the armchair investor should realize property value gain around $6,500 a year."

So far, Riley's two developments include 13 buildings with 260 units. Their armchair investor-owners range from janitors to fashionable physicians and successful business people.

Riley now is studying the suburban areas of New York and the faster-growing cities of the South and Far West for sites suitable for more of his apartments especially tailored for the couple still awaiting the first baby.

Applications For New Bases Are Taken

The Calloway ASCS County Office is now accepting applications for new Feed Grain bases, H. B. Fulton, chairman, of the County Committee said today.

The final date for accepting applications is February 15, 1964, Mr. Fulton stated.

Mr. Fulton said to be eligible for a new Feed Grain base a farm must meet all the following conditions:

1. The farm must not have an old feed grain base established for 1964. The farm owner or operator must not own or operate any other farm for which a feed grain base is established or for which an application has been filed for a new Feed Grain Base.

2. The operator must have adequate equipment and facilities available for the production of the feed grain on the farm.

3. The operator must expect to derive 50% or more of his livelihood in 1964 from the production of Agricultural commodities or products on the farm for which application is filed.

4. The farm must have land suitable for the production of feed grains.

Souper Saucery

Magic Ingredient Is Canned Soup

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

SOME of the sauciest secrets of all are kept in cans—soup cans!

Double-rich and double-thick, canned soups provide a savory shortcut when you're saucing up a meat, fish, poultry or egg dish.

Instead of mixing up countless ingredients, take your ready-made soup, spark it with a few other ingredients and— presto!—a souper sauce is ready to serve.

Creole Sauce, for example, has a tomato soup base, while Sauce Benedict features condensed cream of chicken soup.

CREOLE SAUCE
1 small pepper, sliced
1 small onion, sliced
1 (4 oz.) can sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 (10½ oz.) can condensed tomato soup

¾ c. water
1 tsp. vinegar
In saucepan cook green pepper, onion and mushrooms in butter until tender. Stir in soup, water and vinegar. Cook over low heat for 5 min.

Serve on grilled hamburgers, baked fish or omelet.

SAUCE BENEDICT WITH POACHED EGGS

1 (10½ oz.) can condensed cream of chicken soup
¾ c. milk
6 thin slices ham, fried
6 slices buttered toast
6 eggs, poached
1 tsp. minced parsley
In saucepan, blend soup and milk. Heat, stirring now and then. Meanwhile, place a slice of ham on each slice of toast. Top with poached egg. Pour sauce over eggs. Sprinkle with parsley. Serves 6.

TOMATO SOUP is the base for a delicious Creole Sauce that makes hamburgers, fish or omelet a gourmet treat.

THE SAUCE—made with condensed cream of chicken soup—turns plain poached eggs into spectacular Eggs Benedict.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED? It was not enough, Vascon's wild burst of energy which seemed to give him added strength. And then his weight was even heavier, his knife twisting murderously. Blood spilled across him, and for an instant the world took on a nightmare quality. Johnny thrust violently and threw the oppressive weight off, then sat up, gasping, gazing into a face as white as his own. In his way it was as beautiful as Leavitt Vascon's was handsome, the dark eyes seething with a blend of emotions. They ranged the whole gamut from disgust and rage to revulsion and pity. Johnny struggled to his feet, looking down at the man who a moment before had been so intent on murdering him. He bent and touched Leavitt, then took a firmer grip on that right arm which had been so menacing, using it as a lever to turn him. The knife had twisted as Vascon collapsed and now it was buried almost to the hilt in his own chest. He fell back as Johnny released his grip. Vascon's mind still reeling at the evidence of his senses. He had seen Vivian Vascon a few times in the past, though not often. She had grown into an almost beautiful beauty, reserved, proud, with the arrogance of the Vascons. Now he regarded her doubtfully, seeing horror in her eyes. She had been away from the country for nearly a year, attending a school in the East. Barney was fiercely determined that his mother's daughter should have the training that befit a lady. It came to Johnny that what he had taken for arrogance might be shyness. Her hair was thick and soft and had the sheen and blackness of a crow's wing. Her eyes were stormy as she looked from her dead cousin to him, and she shivered. Her fingers were white from the intensity with which they clasped the butt of a revolver. His own gun, Johnny observed, and understood. She had snatched it up, clubbing Leavitt with the barrel, taking him by surprise. He'd twisted, falling, and the knife had been pointed upward. Again Vivian shivered, allowing the gun to drop. Her voice was curiously flat. "Is he dead?" "He is dead. No fault of yours. It was an accident." She looked down again; then she ceased to frown. "I'm glad," she announced calmly. "The insufferable beast! I overheard what you said to him—and what he answered. He was always murderous." Johnny could only agree. From his own experience and the many tales he'd heard, the term was accurate. "You saved me," Johnny added, and shivered in his turn. "I'd about given myself up. It was lucky that you happened along. 'It wasn't entirely by chance.' Her tone was dispassionate though a fierce undercurrent vibrated through the words. That was one time he overreached himself. I got a letter from him, asking me to meet him at the Lamppost Spring today. "He said that there was something very important that he had to talk over with me, that he had to explain certain things before I talked with anyone else in the family. I've been away, and he sounded quite convinced. So I came. And now I understand what he really had in mind! "She went on, as though it were necessary to explain, not only for Johnny's benefit, but for her own. "He was my cousin, of course—but he was always trying to make love to me, oh, for years now I never took him seriously—I thought it was sort of a game—but apparently he didn't. "He wrote me several letters while I was gone. You see, I thought McGinnis had married when he could get through Myra. When it turned out that there was no money, Myra was an embarrassment—to be gotten rid of. "By then, Dad had cut him off from any share in the business, but he was always trying to make love to me, oh, for years now I never took him seriously—I thought it was sort of a game—but apparently he didn't. ## Kentucky Is Back In Familiar Spot, According To UPI Rating

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Kentucky Wildcats climbed back to a familiar position today — one they haven't occupied for nearly five years — the nation's No. 1 collegiate basketball team in the United Press International coaches' ratings.

Cosch Adolph Rupp, whose Wildcats dominated the college basketball scene in the 40s and 50s, haven't been in the top spot since Feb. 9, 1959. Today Kentucky edged unbeaten UCLA, winner of the Los Angeles Classic, by only six rating points to gain first place.

The Wildcats were ranked first by 19 of the 25 coaches on the UPI rating board. 12 rated UCLA No. 1, Loyola of Chicago (No. 3) received two ballots and Michigan (No. 4) and Davidson (No. 7) each were named on one.

Loyola had held the No. 1 ranking through the first five weeks of the season until it was upended by little-known Georgetown of Washington, D.C. in the first round of the Quaker City Tournament Friday.

Once-beaten Cincinnati held fifth place; Vanderbilt, with nine consecutive wins remained sixth and undefeated Davidson moved up one position to seventh.

Oregon State ranked eighth; Duke, No. 9, and Villanova, No. 10, round out the top 10.

The ratings are based on games through Saturday, Dec. 28. Wichita, winner of the All-College Tournament, advanced to 11th; unbeaten Stanford jumped from 19th to 12th and Minnesota, a finalist in the Holiday Festival at New York advanced to 13th. Kansas State, Texas Western and St. Bonaventure followed in order 14-15-16. New York University and Utah tied for 17th and Oklahoma State and North Carolina deadlocked for 19th.

cottages, dining rooms and souvenir and gift shops.

Facilities at Kentucky Dam Village State Park and Jenny Wiley State Park will remain open on a limited basis.

One wing of rooms and the dining room at the Village Inn at Kentucky Dam Village and a limited number of rooms and the dining room at May Lodge in Jenny Wiley State Park will remain in operation.

"The economic facts of life dictate that we must not needlessly expend funds to maintain winter resort operations for the benefit of a very small number of park visitors at the expense of all Kentuckians," the parks head said.

He said the first year's operation of new resort facilities in the parks has shown that about three-fourths of the year's business occurs in the six-month period between May and October.

"This follows the pattern of families scheduling most vacation and recreation travel during the good-weather months. During those months the parks serve effectively as magnets drawing tourist dollars into Kentucky," Bell noted.

"During June, July and August, for example, the parks are occupied to capacity and are unable to accommodate additional thousands of reservation requests," he said.

"In contrast, however, the limited number of Kentucky and out-of-state visitors to the parks in extreme cold weather months shows that it is 'clearly unfeasible to operate fullscale resort facilities in parks during the winter,' the commissioner added.

Noting that the General Assembly has given General Fund support to the state parks in the past, Bell pointed out that the parks never have been self-supporting. "Nor, in fact, do I actually believe that they should be," he said.

"Most of the smaller shrines and historical museums do not take in sufficient receipts to cover the cost of their operation and maintenance. Even in the largest vacation parks, many activities and facilities require sizeable maintenance costs, but are not designed to be self-supporting," he added.

In order to extend the tourist season in Kentucky, the commissioner said, "We must develop new parks programs and new approaches in order to interest the traveling public in cold-weather months."

"In the meantime, we must deal with the economic facts as they exist, and the facts are incontrovertible that we have a seasonal tourist interest."

Bell said the opening date next spring for park resort facilities depends on how soon spring weather permits the season to open.

"Meanwhile," he added, "we are already booking reservations for 1964 at all parks, and Kentuckians who want to plan ahead to a park vacation can write at any time to the superintendent in the park of their choice."

Museums at Audubon, Pioneer Memorial and Jefferson Davis will show the protective officers the information that may be needed and Sunday and will be shown on MIAMI (UPI) — Sammy Lison and Cassius Clay fight for the world heavyweight championship at Miami Beach on Feb. 25 thanks to an unlikely looking "angel" named William Bernard McDonald Jr.

McDonald, who handled the third round of the Lison-Clay fight, is a 45-year-old former professional boxer who has been in the boxing business for 20 years. He has been a trainer, a promoter and a manager.

Which makes him more of a "ring" than a "fighter" in the eyes of many boxing fans. He has been a "ring" for 20 years, and he has been a "fighter" for 20 years.

No. 1 Team To Be Decided, Cotton Bowl Tomorrow

By FRED DOWN

United Press International

An estimated 360,000 college football fans are expected to ring out the old year and ring in the new year today and Wednesday at five major bowl games — one of which may determine 1963's No. 1 team.

The two-day football binge begins in El Paso, Tex., today with Oregon and Southern Methodist in the Sun Bowl before a crowd of 30,000.

Then, with a bleary-eyed national TV audience spinning the dials on New Year's Day, the bowl menu will be continued with four choice morsels:

—The Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., with Illinois (7-1-1) facing Washington (6-4) before a crowd of 100,000.

—The Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., where Nebraska (9-1) will face Auburn (9-1) with a turnout of 72,000 anticipated.

—The Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La., with Mississippi (7-0-2) facing Alabama (7-2) before a crowd of about 82,000.

—Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex., where Texas (10-0) takes on Navy (9-1) before some 75,000 fans.

The "Big One"

All five bowls have attractive pairings but the "big one" is in the Cotton Bowl where Texas, nationally first ranked at the close of the regular season and boasting one of the strongest defenses in many years, will face nationally second ranked Navy and its unpredictable Heisman player of the year award-winning Roger Staubach.

This classic match of sound defense and careful ball-controlling offense against varied and surprising offense will enable the winner to claim the national championship.

Texas coaches concede the brilliance of Staubach but have emphasized the quality of the rest of Navy's squad during pre-game maneuvers. At the same time Navy Coach Wayne Hardin has repeatedly emphasized the strength-in-depth of the Texas squad. The odds-makers have made Texas a timid one-point choice.

Fullback Junior Coffey's recovery from injury has lifted Washington's Rose Bowl hopes against a typical Big Ten foe — talent in depth-laden Illinois. The Big Ten representative has been installed as a 6½-point favorite. Illinois is reported in perfect condition.

Mississippi Favored

Quarterbacks Perry Lee Dunn and Jim Westberry plus fullback Bucky Randall give Mississippi a seven-point edge in the Sugar Bowl, according to the odds-makers. The big question mark for Alabama is injured fullback Mike Fracchia.

Auburn is giving away height and weight to Nebraska but has been installed as a 1½-point choice on the strength of its speed and resourcefulness. Auburn Coach Shug Jordan, discarding the caution characteristic of his trade, has predicted his Tigers will win "because we've gotten every team we've played."

Oregon (7-3) is a three-point choice over SMU (4-6) primarily because of an offense led by quarterback Bob Berry, who passed for 16 touchdowns and gained a total of 1,733 yards rushing and passing.

Morehead Is Leading OVC, Poll Shows

NASHVILLE (UPI) — Morehead State College is the Ohio Valley Conference's basketball leader, according to the weekly report released today.

Morehead, with a 4-1 season record, has played only one OVC game so far this season. The team averaged 100 points for the first five games.

Morehead's Harold Serrent led the scoring column with a 30.8 per game average and 154 total points.

Serrent's nearest rival was Darryl Corrier of Western Kentucky with 110 points. Henry Akin, Morehead, was third with a 21.2 game average.

The Kentucky school's Don Martin hit the highest percentage of field goals attempted with 54.9, while Tennessee Tech's Charles Wood made good on 38 of 74 attempts for 51.3.

Jim Jennings, Murray State, led the free throw list with 36 successes in 29 tries. Eastern Kentucky's Hersey Smith was second in that category with 41 of 48.

The rebounding column was led by Jennings with 18.4 per game. Bob Toland of Eastern Kentucky trailed with 168 rebounds in eight games, for 13.5 per game.

a couple and to insure that no one would miss the significance of the occasion, scheduled a parade of waiters bearing letters carved in ice and spelling out "Happy New Year 1964."

At Dallas the Statler-Hilton prepared to greet 500 revelers with a $20 a plate dinner, dancing and a floor show headlined by flamenco expert Jose Geco. But the city's biggest party will be in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel, where the Cotton Bowl Association prepared for 700 guests.

Tucson, Ariz., reported its nightclubs lowered their prices from previous New Year's Eve levels, offering dinner, dancing and entertainment for as little as $7.50 a couple. Prices in neighboring Phoenix ranged from $5 to $15 a person.

The National Safety Council estimated that from 140 to 180 people would die in traffic accidents during the 36-hour holiday period, beginning at 6 p. m. local time today.
